The otter is the fastest freshwater mammal in North America. It cruises at six miles an hour but it can go much faster if need be. It can swim a quarter-mile under water, remain submerged for four minutes.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Q—I have had acne for three years. I have watched my diet, washed with a germicidal soap and used many medicines but nothing seems to help. What do you advise?

A—Because certain changes in the hormones entering the blood during adolescence is the cause of acne, many teen-agers continue to have this skin eruption until they are in their early 20s. Diet does not appear to be an underlying cause. Most dermatologists now favor injection of the antibiotic, tetracycline. Doxycycline (Vibramycin) by mouth has also controlled the disease in 33 per cent of those who have tried it. Both are prescription drugs.

Exposure to sunlight, application of carbon dioxide snow and the use of 0.1 per cent vitamin A in a greaseless salve are other helpful measures.

Q—My girl friend wears bangs over her forehead. Could this cause her pimples?

A—It would not cause them but, if her hair is very oily, it might aggravate the condition under the bangs.

Q—I am a man, 74. I have been taking Hydrox and digoxin for several years. Could they cause me to break out with acne?

A—Digoxin is not likely to cause pimples but the Hydrox might. Both drugs should be taken only under careful medical supervision.

Q—What can I do to get rid of acne scars?

A—The surgical planing or dermabrasion with a wire brush, recently in vogue, is no longer popular because when the planing is not deep enough it doesn't remove the scars and when it is too deep it makes them worse. Masking cosmetics now appear to be the safest and best treatment.

Q—I am 55. About three years ago I began to get painful bumps on the top of my head. They last a few days, then go away but more keep coming. What causes them and what can be done for them?

A—This sounds like acne necrotica. The cause is not known. An antibiotic, such as betamethasone (Valisone Cream), a prescription item, is often helpful.

Q—I have heard that some birth control pills will cure acne. Is this true?

A—Yes, provided you have attained your full growth, and have the approval of your doctor.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Danny Thomas, apparently addicted to work, is coming out of television retirement again—with a bold experiment.

Will audiences that kept "Make Room for Daddy" on the air for 11 seasons respond to a frankly second-generation show? His new ABC series—with the season's most awkward title, "Danny Thomas in Make Room for Granddaddy"—was prompted by the big Nielsen ratings achieved by a couple of hour specials reuniting the family.

Thomas made TV history when, needing a change, he dropped the successful series in 1964. A Thomas-hosted anthology series was a short-lived entry a couple of years later, but Danny kept busy as a very successful producer of hit series for other stars, as nightclub entertainer and as guest star. Now, during a short break in the shooting of his series, he is off on a club date in Nevada and even finds time and energy to star in coffee commercials. It must be love, since he doesn't need the money.

Meanwhile, the Williams family of the original series soon will be back with a few added starters, notably a 6-year-old who will play the child of his married son, thus the "granddaddy" in the title.

Marjorie Lord, who played Danny's wife for the last seven years of the original series, was persuaded—with difficulty—to return.

"I really had mixed emotions about coming back," Miss Lord said. "I was so terribly identified in the role of Danny's wife. When the series ended, I was up for some good film parts. Bob Hope did choose me to play opposite him in one, but some others wouldn't touch me because of the Thomas relationship."

Marjorie was Danny's second TV wife. Jean Hagen was his first, starting in 1953. When she left for other screen fields, Danny was a widower with two small children for one season. Then Miss Lord appeared as a widowed nurse with a child and romance flowered.

The child, 17-year-old Angela Cartwright, will represent the ### YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

MOTHER NEEDS MORE BACKBONE

Dear Helen: My married sister has a beautiful home, a pool, fancy friends, and two brats for kids. In six years, she has never done her own washing. She brings it home for Mom to do. She also brings her children over for us to babysit.

But we never get invited to her house unless she needs somebody to clean up after a party. I used to ask if I could swim over there, but there was always an excuse, so I quit.

She acts ashamed of us unless she needs something done, or a free meal for the four of them. Mom even sews and irons for her. With no thanks!

How can I make her see she is being used? — THE UNSPOILED ONE

Dear Un: Your mother probably knows she is being used, but a "dofers" figures her role in life is to "do for" her children—and "dofers" seldom change.

Since she evidently enjoys this slavery, don't hassle over it—but don't join her. When your sister asks YOU to babysit, tell her the going rate is 75 cents per hour. — H.

teen-age viewpoint this season. That she started as Danny's step-daughter has long been ignored.

Miss Lord, in her six-year TV hiatus has been successful with her first love, the stage. Among other things, she starred in a production of "Cactus Flower" and has directed a number of plays including some college productions.

Like just about every other television series in the approaching season, the new Thomas effort yearns for topical scripts which are youth-oriented.

Dear Helen: You'll think this is silly, but it's serious to me.

My guy gets bossier the longer I know him. Today he said I couldn't wear makeup. If I did, he wouldn't come to see me again. I don't wear very much. Also he tells me to "shut up," and he has begun to yell at me, and put me down.

What do you suggest? — SHER

Dear Sher: A new boy friend! — H.

Dear Helen: In your answer to "Two Questions" you mentioned that you look to the day when the Three R's—Race, Riotin' and Revolution—would be replaced by concern over the Three P's: Pollution, Population Poverty and Peace.

Some time ago you started a movement to "Stamp out Steadying" and were able to get SOS buttons for all your interested young readers. Well, I was past that stage, so didn't wear a button. But how about starting a button movement for all who are deeply concerned, as I am, about solving the problems of the first Two P's, and effecting the third?

If the Silent Majority aren't heard, maybe we can at least be seen? — A.A.S.

Dear A: Provocative... But how do you get all those major issues in one small button? Perhaps, instead, the silent majority should learn to speak out. — H.

Dear Helen: Mrs. J.K.P.'s letter about the loneliness of a young mother in a new town brought back memories. I found friends by conquering my shyness and being friendly. It's always hard to make the first move, but I never found anyone who failed to respond to a smile, especially if you both have babies you can discuss. You'd be surprised at how many other young people are lonely, too.

My suggestions:

1. Visit a local church and introduce yourselves to the minister. Many young parents attend.
2. Look for a "mothers' club" in your town. Your library or newspaper can help here.
3. Visit the parks where other mothers are "airing" their children. Don't be afraid to talk first.
4. Join an afternoon bowling league, where babysitting is offered. Or go to the "Y" for swimming, exercise, etc. These aren't expensive.
5. Go for walks in your neighborhood and stop to talk with people who are out gardening. Who knows, maybe they're new in town too? — NANCY T.

A's Now Contending for Pennant

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Only last weekend the Oakland Athletics were being counted out as serious pennant contenders in the American League West. Today, however, they're camping on the doorstep of first-place Minnesota, thanks in part to Campy Campaneris.

Five games ago the A's were third, 10 games back. But since the Twins have dropped every game they've played while Oakland has captured them all, including Wednesday night's 11-4 sheeling of Cleveland which, coupled with Minnesota's 5-3 loss to Washington, eased the A's within five games of the top. Campaneris, the Oakland shortstop whose real first name is Bert, led the assault against the Indians, smacking four hits one of them a triple—and scoring four runs. Frank Fernandez contributed three hits.

A's manager John McNamara said he "thought it was going to be one of those games" after the Indians grabbed a quick 4-1 lead. "We used up three pitchers in three innings."

"Bob Locker did a great job," McNamara said of the veteran right-handed reliever who blanked Cleveland through the final 5-3 frames.

In Wednesday night's other American League action, Baltimore nipped California 5-4, Milwaukee stunned Detroit 6-5, the Chicago White Sox trimmed the New York Yankees 5-1 and Kansas City split a two-night doubleheader with Boston, winning the nightcap 4-3 after the Red Sox took the opener 7-4.

In the National League, the New York Mets edged Cincinnati 2-1, Los Angeles bombed Pittsburgh 11-4, Atlanta outlasted Montreal 8-7, Houston blanked Philadelphia 4-0, San Francisco turned back the Chicago Cubs 6-3 and St. Louis squeezed by San Diego 5-4 in 14 innings.

Frank Howard's 31st home run and Mike Epstein's 15th, both two-run blasts, gave Washington its triumph over the reeling Twins, who managed just eight hits off Jim Hannan, 8-5, and reliever Joe Grzenda.

Andy Etchebarren drilled a two-run single in Baltimore's four-run fourth, then unloaded his second homer of the year leading off the seventh to pace the Baltimore attack that dropped California 1½ games behind the A's.

Milwaukee erupted for four runs in the eighth inning with pinch-hitter Bernie Smith getting the decisive blow, a bases-loaded two-run double that capped the rally. Don Wert hit his sixth homer of the year for Detroit.

Ed Herrmann of the White Sox and Roy White of the Yankees traded solo homers but it was Bill Melton's two-run single in the seventh that made the difference.

Carl Yastrzemski knocked in five runs with a homer and a double and Gary Peters pitched out of several jams to boost Boston over Kansas City in the opener. But the Royals, after seeing their 3-0 lead vanish in the nightcap, got a ninth-inning double from Lou Piniella and the game-winning single from Paul Schaal.

Fort Smith Edges 3-2 Over Newport

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) —

Newport pitcher Cletey Phillard walked in the winning run in the bottom of the 10th inning as Fort Smith edged Newport 3-2 in first-round action of the state American Legion Baseball tournament here Wednesday.

In other games Wednesday, El Paso defeated Pine Bluff 10-5, Blytheville downed Helena 6-0 and Benton edged passed Little Rock 6-1.

Second-round action was to get underway this morning. The tournament is expected to continue through Sunday.

Jets Currently in State of Confusion

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
With Joe Namath in Florida, Al Atkinson in Pennsylvania and George Saimes in Buffalo, the New York Jets can't be certain who's coming and who's going.

Normally about this time, after the first exhibition game, pro football teams are worrying about what rookies and fringe players to cut or keep, but not the Jets. They have other worries. Their offense and defense already have been crippled by injuries and strange happenings.

First and foremost is the case of Namath, the weak-kneed but strong-armed controversial quarterback who led the Jets to a Super Bowl victory two years ago.

The shaggy-haired rebel, who has been holding out for reasons known only to him, was sighted sunning himself on a boat in Fort Lauderdale Wednesday.

Earlier in the day, Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said he had spoken to his AWOL ace by telephone and said Namath is "trying to resolve his problems as soon as possible."

Friends of Namath, meanwhile, reported he would not be back in New York until Sunday or Monday, which would leave him missing for the Jets' second pre-season contest against Atlanta this weekend.

Namath's absence also caused the Jets trouble on defense when middle linebacker Al Atkinson retired last week, blasting Namath.

However, Atkinson was quoted in Drexel Hill, Pa., as saying he might reconsider after reading that the Jets lost all-pro defensive end Gerry Philbin with a shoulder dislocation.

"I do have responsibilities to the Jets, and I really feel that I owe them all the responsibility of coming back," he said.

Then there is Saimes, a stand-out safety for eight years with the Buffalo Bills, who played out his option. The Jets' big weakness last year was in defensive backfield.

Ewbank said he has talked to Saimes, and Saimes admitted "there's a possibility I'll be playing in New York. It's all a question of what Buffalo is asking for me," he said.

On the rest of the quarterback scene, Joe Kapp of Minnesota still was among the missing in his money dispute, but Greg Cook, Cincinnati's standout sophomore, showed up in camp for the first time. His whereabouts had been unknown, although it had been reported that he had stayed away to have his ailing arm checked again.

Cincinnati coach Paul Brown said Cook was being fined an undisclosed amount and had admitted he "made a mistake."

Several teams were hit by injury Wednesday, while still others were busy with the usual slashing.

The Super Bowl champion Kansas City Chiefs sent second year cornerback Jim Marsalis to a hospital for observation after he complained of pains in his chest. A team spokesman said it was thought Marsalis, a starter, had bruised ribs.

Washington lost six-year reserve running back Dave Kopy indefinitely with a fractured rib.

The biggest man cut was the littlest guy, Noland Smith of San Francisco, a 5-foot-6 kick return specialist who starred with Kansas City before he was picked up last year by the 49ers.

The St. Louis Cardinals released veteran cornerback Lonnie Sanders, who was obtained in 1968 in a trade with Washington and missed all of last season with a knee injury.

Denver let go running back Frank Quayle, a fifth round draft pick in 1969 who pulled a muscle and failed a physical.

The New York Giants cut two veterans, reserve defensive end Bruce Anderson and second string wide receiver Joe Koonz. They also placed starting center Greg Larson and reserve safety Tom Longo on the 21-day disabled list, Larson with an eye injury and Longo with a chipped vertebra.

Ron Lyle of Denver, who won the 1970 National AAU heavy-weight boxing title, was released from the Colorado Penitentiary in November, 1969, vowing to go straight. He served more than seven years for manslaughter after a man was shot fatally in a gang fight.

Floyd Dubbed Angry Playboy of Golf

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — They have dubbed him "The Angry Playboy Of Golf" but Ray Floyd, who opens defense of his PGA Championship here today, begs to dissent on both counts.

"I'm not mad at anybody," the handsome 200-pound bachelor said, "and I'm not nearly the social swinger I've been pictured to be."

"I am single. I like girls. Sometimes I take girls out. I like to go to a nice place. If it's a nice place, you usually find liquor around."

"People see me in these circumstances and, knowing that I am competing in a golf tournament, say, 'look at that Ray Floyd, out on the town. He ought to be back at the motel asleep.'"

"That's the way it starts, and just escalates."

Acknowledging he's no angel, the strapping, curly-haired son of a Fort Bragg, N.C. pro told the world today that his principal current interest is in repeating as the national pro champion.

Nobody's done it since Denny Shute in 1936-37. Shute, gray, blunt and expanding at the waist line, is in the 135-man field challenging Floyd this week-end over the 6,962-yard par-70 Southern Hills Country Club course.

"I think I can do it," Floyd said after taking a single practice tour of the tough, demanding layout. "I don't feel any pressure at all. I have proven I can play tough golf courses."

"I have won the title once. It ought to be easier to win a second time."

Floyd who was a $100,000 club member last year, said he developed a mechanical flaw in his swing during the Florida tour but now has corrected the fault through the help of his father and fellow pros Bob Rosburg and Phil Rodgers.

"It's very technical and hard to explain," he added. "I wasn't getting through properly with the lower part of my body, my legs and hips. I think I've hit more practice balls than I've hit in my life."

"By the time of the U.S. Open, I had my swing back again and I thought I was going to win the British Open—I felt that good. But I couldn't sink a putt. Last week at Akron I had 11 three-putt greens."

The powerfully-built Southerner, one of the game's big hitters, said a course such as Southern Hills, with its gun-barrel fairways and subtle hazards, reduces the number capable of taking the title.

"It will take a good golfer to win it," he said. "You can figure out five men who are playing the best golf at the moment and add five more who always come through in important tournaments and you have the list."

"I wouldn't name anybody but I think I can pick ten men I'd bet on against the field."

There seemed little doubt about who would be in Ray's club—Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper, Tony Jacklin, Lee Trevino, Bruce Crampton, Frank Beard, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders, Dick Lotz, Bruce Develin and Dave Hill—pick ten.

Would Ray Floyd include Ray Floyd?

"Sure," he replied, "I'd include myself."

Floyd, 27, a six-footer with a boyish face framed by a modishly longlock of hair, is one of the few eligible bachelors on the tour. He has a big feminine following and often is seen with a stunning beauty on one arm.

He is a close friend of manager Leo Durocher of the Chicago Cubs, who lets him work out with the baseball team. He plays golf with Dean Martin, Andy Williams and the Hollywood crowd. He has been criticized for walking out on sponsors after winning tournaments and failing to keep tournament commitments.

"There always have been mitigating circumstances that get fouled up when they're reported," Floyd said. "I've been fined but never for a temper tantrum or any show of anger on the course. There are some newsmen I refuse to talk to because they've been unfair to me."

"I do my best on the golf course. When I'm through playing a round, my personal life is my own."

Gonzales 5th Seeded in Tourney

TORONTO (AP) — Top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia isn't scheduled to play until Thursday, but veteran Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles is slated for action today in the $23,000 Canadian Open tennis championships.

Gonzales, seeded fifth behind Laver, Andres Gimeno of Spain, Roy Emerson of Britain, and Roger Taylor of Britain, was paired against John Sharpe, a 31-year-old Toronto stockbroker.

Taylor whipped Torben Ulrich of Denmark 6-2, 6-3 in the first round Tuesday. Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill. and Ron Holmberg, Highland Falls, N.Y. also advanced.

In other league action, Memphis trounced Amarillo 10-5, San Antonio edged El Paso 5-4 and Shreveport defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 5-4.

Bob Gibson Strikes Out 200 Batters

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Red Schoendienst wouldn't have given two cents for Bob Gibson's chances before the game and the fire-balling St. Louis Cardinals ace had to agree.

But before the night was over, the veteran right-hander had chalked up his 16th victory and snapped a major league record in the process.

The record—becoming the first pitcher in history to strike out 200 or more batters in eight seasons—was probably Gibson's easiest work Wednesday night, coming in the third inning when he fanned Nate Colbert, giving him an even 200 for the year.

However, the 34-year-old workhorse had to go 14 innings before subduing the stubborn San Diego Padres 5-4.

He was reached for 13 hits but also fanned 13, upping his season total to 210, sending him ahead of former American League hurlers Walter Johnson and Rube Waddell, who had shared the mark at seven seasons with Gibson.

"I didn't think I was throwing too good in the bullpen," Gibson said afterward. "I was lucky they were swinging."

"If you'd have seen him warm up, I wouldn't have given two cents that he'd go nine innings," said Schoendienst. "I was going to take him out after the 14th."

Carl Taylor, who won Tuesday's game for the Cards with a dramatic ninth inning grand slam, was the co-hero along with Gibson, drawing a bases-loaded walk off loser Ron Willis, forcing in the winning run.

Gibson, when told he had thrown 178 pitches, shrugged and said: "I don't care about the number of pitches. They always talk about the number, but you can throw 90 pitches and lose."

He was saved that fate when Richie Allen clubbed his 32nd homer in the eighth inning, enabling the Cards to tie the score at 4-4 after Colbert had slugged his 26th with a man aboard in the sixth for a 4-3 San Diego lead.

The victory was the Cards' 12th in 14 games and edged them to within eight games of the struggling Pittsburgh Pirates in the East Division scramble.

In other games, Los Angeles routed the Pirates 11-4, the New York Mets edged Cincinnati 2-1, San Francisco dropped Chicago 6-3, Atlanta nipped Montreal 8-7 and Houston blanked Philadelphia 4-0.

In the American League, Milwaukee nudged Detroit 6-5, Washington dropped Minnesota 5-3, Chicago trimmed New York 5-1, Boston and Kansas City split a doubleheader, the Red Sox winning 7-4 before dropping the nightcap 4-3, Oakland ripped Cleveland 11-4 and Baltimore edged California 5-4.

Was Parker raced home with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning on Pirates' reliever Dave Giusti's wild pitch and then the Dodgers broke loose for seven runs in the ninth inning to wallop Pittsburgh.

The loss, coupled with the Mets' triumph, dropped the Pirates' lead to only 1½ games over New York in the East.

Red-hot Ted Sizemore drove in the second eighth inning run for the Dodgers with a single and Jeff Torborg drilled a two-run single and Willie Crawford added a two-run double in the big ninth.

The Dodgers, who have won four straight, to get within 11 games of the Reds in the West, have ripped 67 hits, scored 36 runs and are hitting .419 during their streak. Sizemore has batted at a .667 clip with 16 for 24 in his eight-game hitting string.

Wayne Garrett cracked a pair of doubles and scored both runs while Gary Gentry stopped the Reds on four hits for the Mets' victory.

Gentry, 26, won his first game since June 27. Tony Perez spoiled the shutout for the right-hander with a run-scoring double in the sixth.

Willie Mays' third hit drove in run-scoring single snapped a 3-3 tie. He had another single and a triple. Bobby Bonds had a homer for San Francisco.

Hank Aaron drove in three runs for the Braves with his 34th homer and a single and moved into an eighth-place tie with Al Simmons on the all-time RBI list with 1,827. Mack Jones homered for the Expos.

Scientists Rummage in Trash Cans to Find a Cheap Protein Source

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists are rummaging through trash cans, sifting the seas and harvesting fungi and germs in the quest for cheap, plentiful sources of protein, the body's most important tissue builder.

Their search, reported at the Third International Congress on Food Science and Technology now underway here, is fueled by the realization that in the standing-room-only world of the future—and in already crowded countries—space is at a premium for the animals which provide men with protein.

Protein deficiency is a vital factor in the 10,000 deaths the United Nations estimates occur daily from hunger or malnutrition.

In the United States, according to an Agriculture Department survey, most people get more than enough protein. North Americans on the average eat 66 grams of animal protein a person per day, supplemented by milk, eggs and cereals.

But the individual consumption of animal protein in the Near East averages 14 grams, in Africa 11 grams and in Asia 8 grams.

It is in the animal-poor countries where scientists are pressing hardest to extract the proteins directly from grasses, grains and other substances.

South Africans, Colombians and Guatemalans are already drinking beverages endowed with the exotic-sounding names of "Pro-Nutro" and "Incaparina" and fortified by protein extracted from soybeans. Indians enrich biscuits and candies with peanut flour. And even in the United States, firms are test-marketing protein-enriched flour and noodles.

The products being tapped for protein depend on what's available: corn tassels at Kansas State University, sugar cane waste in Colombia, coconuts in The Philippines, weeds in Portugal, "junk fish" in Seattle, fungi and bacteria in England, seaweed, algazompno microbes in Japan.

C.R. Gattelier of the French Petroleum Institute reported on plans in France, Japan and Russia to produce protein from a yeast culture grown in a petroleum medium. He estimated the protein will be ready for feeding to animals in this decade and to humans by the next.

Researchers cite this comparison: A 1,000-pound steer makes about a pound of useful protein in a day, while 1,000 pounds of yeast can make 4,000 pounds of protein in the same period.

There are problems. Swiss researchers reported their noodles made from algae had a sickly green color. Present alfalfa protein contains too much indigestible material. The Israelis said their soybean flour produced stomach gas. Researchers are being careful to scan their substances for any toxic or cancerous elements.

But the problems will be solved, say scientists.

Dr. Philip Handler, president of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences, notes that synthetic food research is one reason why old predictions of eventual famine are palling.

Lady Gridder Problem for Male Players

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — "It's a touchy situation," said Art Zachary, a big 219-pound defensive end of the Norfolk Neptune football team.

He and other members of the team are wondering just how and where they are going to tackle Mrs. Patricia (Pat) Palinkas.

Pat is the first woman ever to be signed to play professional football, and she'll play her first game Aug. 22 at Foreman Field at the Kiwanis Bowl when the Neptunes meet the Orlando Panthers.

Other members of the Norfolk team aren't exactly ecstatic that they'll come face to face with the first woman player in professional football.

"Besides being a difficult situation in the dressing room, she might present a sticky problem on the football field. I don't like to think about it," said George Hughes, Neptune Football coach.

Pat Palinkas is a 130-pound blonde from Tampa, Fla., who signed a contract recently with the Orlando Panthers as a place holder. She'll hold the ball for the field goals and extra points after a Panther touchdown.

Pat was signed to the unusual contract when she accompanied her husband, Steve to place-kicking tryouts and Orlando coach Paul Massey signed the husband-wife team to one-year contracts.

(Unofficial sources claim she's a better holder than he is kicker.)

Male School Names Woman Tennis Coach

MORAGA, CALIF. (AP) — All-male St. Mary's College has jumped ahead of the women's liberation drive by naming Lynne Abbes Rolley as intercollegiate tennis coach.

The pretty 21-year-old brunette from Orinda, Calif., is one of the youngest and no doubt prettiest coaches of a men's team in the country.

St. Mary's officials said Wednesday they did not know of any other woman coaching a men's team on the college varsity level.

"I'm really thrilled about this," Mrs. Rolley said at a news conference. "I like working with men."

Mrs. Rolley, who was ranked seventh among U.S. women tennis players before retiring in 1967, has been a teaching professional three years.

St. Mary's is admitting women for the first time this fall, and Mrs. Rolley plans to start a women's team. The Catholic school's enrollment is about 1,100 and about 100 women are expected to enroll for the coming term.

For the past several years, the school has had no tennis coach. A player-captain has been in charge of the squad.

WBA Medical Advisor Clears Up Statement

MONTREAL (AP) — Dr. Leon Feldman, international medical advisor to the World Boxing Association, said Wednesday the function of the WBA is not to ban fighters for medical reasons.

Denying public reports that he recommended to the WBA annual meeting Monday that Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto be barred from the ring for his own safety, Feldman said in a statement:

"I urged any commission having jurisdiction over his future bouts to be careful before giving him a license, so that there could be no question about his physical condition prior to his next fight."

"At no time did I recommend that he be banned from professional boxing."

Punishment Feared by Officers

By JAMES H. DOWNEY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The acting police chief of Jackson says he believes that his men denied they shot into a Jackson State College dormitory because they feared punishment for shooting without orders.

Two young Negroes were killed and 13 were injured during a barrage of fire by law officers on the second successive night of campus violence in mid-May. City police, state troopers and National Guardsmen were on campus at the time.

Detective Chief M. B. Pierce, acting chief, said Wednesday in an appearance before the President's Commission on Campus Unrest that deceptive reports were made by his officers. City officials at first claimed that local police had not fired their weapons.

Subsequent tests, including an FBI ballistics report cited by commission member James Ahern, police chief of New Haven, Conn., showed that city officers took part in the firing.

Pierce said he thought his men deceived him "through fear of punishment, because they knew somebody shot without orders."

Pierce was the last of 11 witnesses who testified Wednesday in the second day of commission hearings here that end today.

Witnesses before the commission have disagreed over whether sniper fire came from the dormitory, Alexander Hall, before law officers opened fire.

Tom Lavin, Mayor Frank Douglas, Kenneth Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton

Thomas Lavin, a former Hope resident and Kiwanian, provided the program for a special meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Lavin now living in Atlanta, Texas is in the professional entertainment field and has filled engagements all over the United States as well as some engagements out of the country. He describes himself as a humorist rather than comic, and presents a program of humorous tales as well as singing to his own accompaniment. He will be remembered in Hope as the High School Band Director in the early 1940s and as an accomplished musician.

The special Kiwanis meeting was in keeping with Family Reunion Day, sponsored jointly by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge and Kiwanis International. Family Reunion Day is a day set aside for family togetherness, a day when families are urged to worship together, to play together, to eat together, and to fellowship together.

Tuesday's Kiwanis meeting was a family affair. Each Kiwanian with his family met together at Town and Country Restaurant for a picnic type meal served buffet style, enjoying the fellowship and Mr. Lavin's program.

Guests other than local Kiwanis family members were Mayor Frank Douglas, Dr. Emmett Thompson, Mrs. Lucille Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hall, C. M. "Pod" Rogers and his son Brad, all of Hope, Mrs. Tommy Brasher and daughter Melody of Springdale, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Harris and daughter, Mary Beth, of Houston, Texas, Mrs. O. Gene Gammill, Jr., of Ft. Walton Beach, Florida, two granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Trent, Mrs. Ruby Shepherd, mother of Mr. Lavin and Paul Bowie of Gurdon, and Mrs. Tom Lavin of Atlanta, Texas.

AIDC Proposes Plan to Help Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission voted Wednesday to present several proposals to the Arkansas Legislative Council that could improve the industrial climate in the state.

The proposals were in response to a letter from Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller asking for "suggestive legislative changes."

Included in the proposals was one to raise the AIDC's contingent reserve fund from $10 million to $15 million.

Also among the proposals to be presented is one that would amend a 1967 act to authorize the AIDC to "levy premium payments on guaranteed industrial revenue bonds of up to 3 per cent of the total pay back on the bonds rather than 5 per cent of the principle amount of the bonds."

"This will raise the guaranteed premium approximately 20 per cent and will give more stability to the program," the proposal said.

A spokesman for the AIDC explained that the 1967 act authorizes the AIDC to guarantee industrial revenue bonds up to $500,000 in instances where bonds are not marketable without guaranty. In return for the guaranty, the city pays a premium which amounts to 5 per cent of the principle amount of the bonds. The payments are deposited and are used to issue guaranties.

The spokesman explained that a 5 per cent payment on a $100,000 bond would be $5,000. He said, however, that the cost of the bonds including interest, might be $200,000 over a 20-year period.

Under the proposal, the city would pay 3 per cent of the total cost of the bond, which in this case, would be $6,000.

Pornography Commission Stands Pat

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's Commission on Pornography reportedly is sticking to its recommendations for liberalized obscenity laws despite President Nixon's warning he would oppose them.

The 18-member commission took no final votes at meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, sources said, but continued to edit its draft report without making substantial changes.

The major draft recommendations are repeal of all U.S. laws against showing and selling pornographic films, books and other erotica to adults, and enactment of laws protecting children from exposure to such material.

The recommendations, which would make U.S. laws nearly as liberal as Denmark's, are based on a tentative finding that pornography does not cause sex crimes and is not harmful to children.

The White House said Tuesday "it is safe to predict" President Nixon would oppose such recommendations.

At the same time, the White House washed its hands of the draft report and press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler pointed out that the commission members had been appointed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, not Nixon.

The draft report recommends protection of adults from forced exposure to pornography with laws against its public display and use in unsolicited mail advertisements.

The report suggests repeal of pornography laws for adults because effective legislation would require either largely voluntary compliance—which laws do not now have—or massive enforcement which sometimes leads to repression.

It recommends instead a massive sex re-education program to break the "conspiracy of silence" adults have imposed on sex.

The purpose of the silence has been to control youngsters by keeping them ignorant and to suppress adults' disturbing sexual impulses, it said, but the effect has been to drive underground youngsters' natural curiosity about sex.

Moore Trying to Rescue Penn Central

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first step in William H. Moore's plan to rescue the financially distressed Penn Central Railroad is to shuck his coat for overalls and meet the thousands who work for the giant carrier.

Moore, an executive vice president of Southern Railway System, was named president and chief executive officer Wednesday of the Penn Central, the nation's biggest railroad.

His first task, he said in an interview, is to "raise the morale of the people by getting out with them. And I don't mean the top managers or just the middle and lower supervisors. I mean the rank-and-file workers."

Moore reasons that getting to know his employees will help him reach his objective of improving Penn Central service across the board. He said he learned from his 29 years with Southern that Penn Central service has left much to be desired.

He's especially concerned about passenger service. "I'm going to see to it that it is first class with trains running on time. Dining-car service should be unexcelled with quality and courtesy more like what you get on airlines."

Moore, 54, a native of Hazard, Ky., was named Penn Central president by court-appointed trustees in Philadelphia. The appointment is subject to approval by U.S. Dist. Court Judge John P. Fullam who has been overseeing the rail line since it filed for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws June 21.

The trustees called appointment of Moore "the essential first step in getting the Penn Central back into effective operation." They said the appointment reflected their "recognition that reorganizing the Penn Central and refining it must start with making it an efficient carrier of both passengers and freight."

Moore will be leaving Southern, a line with only half the track and a third the employees of Penn Central, for a company which lost $141.5 million during the first six months of the year. Southern showed a net income of $27.7 million during the same period, up 19 per cent from last year.

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Francis T. Donovan of Conway, a candidate for circuit judge of the 5th Judicial District, charged Wednesday that the incumbent, Russell C. Roberts, never intended to try the embezzlement case of Robert L. Pruitt before the Aug. 25 primary.

Donovan and Roberts, both Democrats, are the only candidates for the judgeship.

Donovan said Roberts "has made a political football out of State College of Arkansas in order to keep his name before the public and obtain for himself publicity which he believed would be helpful to his candidacy for re-election."

East played the jack and South was in with the ace. He cashed his two high clubs and proceeded to run off all his trumps. On the last trump, West was down to the 10 of diamonds and ace of spades.

East had thrown a club and four spades and was down to two cards. We can see that they were both spades but West couldn't. Could they be one spade and the six of diamonds?

West should have known because, if East had held the six of diamonds, he would have thrown it away a long time back to give his partner a count. As we said, West should have known but didn't. He chucked his 10 of diamonds and presented South with a slam.

Questions About SS Answered
By Ken Hargis

If you have any questions regarding social security, I invite your letters. Just send them to Ken Hargis, Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501.

QUESTION: I was in a car wreck about six months ago, suffering extensive leg and back injuries. I am only able to get about in a wheel chair and this condition will probably continue for several years. Since I am only 23 years old, and worked up until the time of the accident, is it possible that I may be eligible for social security payments?

ANSWER: Yes, it is possible and you should call the social security office at once. Anyone becoming disabled before age 24 needs credit for only 1 1/2 years of work in the 3-year period before becoming disabled.

QUESTION: I am 32 years of age and have a wife and two children. How much must I have worked in order for them to receive benefits in the event of my death?

ANSWER: For a young worker your age only 2 1/2 years credit for work over any period would be required at this time for your wife and children to be eligible for monthly benefits in the event of your death. Also, if you had credit for only 1 1/2 years work in the 3 years just before death, those survivors could get payments.

QUESTION: I am a working wife. Since my children and I would have social security protection on my husband's record whether I worked or not, why should I have to pay social security tax?

ANSWER: Since you are working, the children have the same protection on your record as on that of the father. In the event of your death your children would be eligible for monthly payments, and your husband to a lump sum death payment. In case of a total disability expected to last 12 months or longer, your social security earnings may entitle you and the children to monthly benefits.

QUESTION: Is it true that social security benefits are terminated when as much has been drawn out of your account as was paid in? Since I am a fairly young person very little would be payable should I become disabled.

ANSWER: This is not true. The length of time that benefits are payable is not limited by the amount of your contributions. Monthly payments would continue as long as you are disabled, and would be payable also, after you reach retirement age, for the rest of your life.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A cubic mile of seawater contains about 128 million tons of salt. The World Almanac says this enormous amount of salt accumulated through millions of years of erosion of the earth's crust and because the sun's heat evaporates ocean water, leaving the dissolved salts behind.

State Crime Is Up 13.5 Per Cent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The latest figures in the FBI's Uniform Crime Report showed that serious crime in Arkansas increased 13.5 per cent in 1969 from 1968. The national average showed a 12 per cent increase.

The report showed that during the 10-year period from 1960-1970 the serious crime rate increased 146 per cent nationally. However, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the rate of increase "slowed down substantially in 1969."

The number of violent crimes in Arkansas increased from 4,360 in 1968 to 4,390 in 1969. Property crimes, which include burglary larceny of more than $50 and auto theft, increased from 20,554 to 23,905.

Murder and non-negligent manslaughter was up to 197 from 163.

Cases of forcible rape and aggravated assault showed declines. Rape dropped from 349 to 347 and assault from 3,052 to 2,961.

Robberies increased from 796 to 885. In the area of property crimes, burglaries rose from 10,341 to 11,717; larceny from 8,317 to 10,168 and auto theft from 1,896 to 2,020.

For the West South Central region of the nation, which includes Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas, total crimes increased 17.3 per cent.

In the same area, violent crimes were up 18.2 per cent and property crimes rose 17.1 per cent.

Warm Trend Seen Through Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A warming trend is expected for the state through Friday with some chance of scattered rainfall before the weekend.

A high pressure ridge centered over Missouri today was expected to keep showers and thundershowers to a minimum in Arkansas.

Skies are expected to remain clear to partly cloudy through Friday with fog and haze expected in some of the lower areas Friday morning.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that no new frontal systems would affect Arkansas weather before the weekend.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 91 at Fort Smith to 84 at Harrison.

FBI Report Reveals Guns Widely Used in Murders Over Nation

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of pistols, rifles and shotguns by Americans to kill or maim other Americans has increased dramatically since 1964, the Federal Bureau of Investigation says.

Two out of every three murder victims in 1969 were gunned down and one out of every four assaults involved a firearm, the FBI reported Wednesday in crime statistics for the past calendar year.

Murders and nonnegligent manslaughters claimed a total of 14,590 lives—including those of 66 law enforcement officers in the United States during 1969, a 7 per cent increase over calendar year 1968.

Aggravated assaults, running the gamut from nonfatal shootings to sluggings, totaled 308,420 during 1969, up 8.5 per cent over 1968.

Guns were used in 65 per cent of the murders and 24 per cent of the aggravated assaults, the FBI said. Between 1964 and

Missile System Foes Mount Final Drive to Restrict Expansion

Questions in Tate Case Are Strange

By LINDA DELANEY
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linda Kasabian has been asked a strange series of questions that a lawyer says were written by the three women defendants in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The questions were posed by Ronald Hughes, the fourth and final defense attorney to cross-examine the state's key witness.

The questions included: "Are you in such a state of mind you could sit on a rock for the rest of your life and be happy? ... What is love? ... What is reality? ... Is God real? ... What do you think of the defendants? ... Do you accept yourself?"

The 21-year-old mother of two did not have to answer most of the questions, however, because prosecution objections to them were sustained.

Later she burst into laughter for the first time in 13 days on the stand when Hughes asked her about a substance that she

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foes of President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile system, claiming they may have found the formula for victory in the ashes of two Senate defeats, will mount a final drive next week to restrict expansion of the system.

But Safeguard supporters, who masterminded the defeat of a bid to carve $322 million and two ABM sites from the program, said they have the votes to withstand any challenge.

The third effort will come on an amendment by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., to block construction of two additional ABM sites. The funds instead would be spent to improve the two existing sites.

Brooke said he would call his amendment up for a vote next Wednesday.

"I think the opposition to ABM has hit its peak and that we can now move on to other things," said Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., floor manager of the bill that includes expansion of Safeguard to two new sites.

The Senate rejected Wednesday by a 62-32 margin a bid by Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, to kill all Safeguard expansion funds except those for research and development.

Then, by a far-slimmer 52-47 margin, it ended a drive to cut $322 million from the President's Safeguard budget and restrict the system to the two sites approved last year. The amendment was sponsored by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Brooke's proposal would allow funds now earmarked for geographical expansion of the system to sites in Missouri and Wyoming to be used to improve sites already authorized in Montana and North Dakota.

The improvements specifically include the Safeguard radars which have been hotly scored as vulnerable to attack and relatively easy to deceive by sophisticated decoy devices.

Earlier, Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, introduced a similar amendment to restrict the system to the two sites approved last year.

Candidates Center on More Revenue

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Discussion centered around the amount of additional revenue that would be produced by repeal of use tax exemptions enjoyed by utilities and quasi-public corporations as five gubernatorial candidates spoke here Wednesday.

The candidates spoke to a meeting of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation. Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt spoke for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and the other seven candidates spoke Tuesday.

Democrat Joe Purcell said the exemptions would produce $30 million a year in new revenues. He said the figure was one which he had received from the state Revenue Department and the Arkansas Legislative Council.

Of the total, Purcell said $20 million would come from utility companies and the rest from transportation firms exempted under law.

Shortage of Water, Public Help Asked

Due to the two wells having been out of service several days the city asks that residents not sprinkle lawns or wash cars Thursday and Friday.

The water department replaced a pump on a well and started it pumping again just before midnight Wednesday.

The Paris necessary to repair the other well should be in Hope late Thursday afternoon, but it will be Friday afternoon at the earliest before the well will be back in service.

With the wells out of service, nearly all of the reserve water was used, and it will be a day or so before reserve will be back to normal.

Ample water is available for normal use, unless a major fire or water-line break occurs. By not sprinkling lawns or washing cars for a few days, water supply can be built up to avoid any serious shortage of water.

Personal Incomes Up in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income rebounded in July to a $3.6-billion gain, the Commerce Department reported today.

Income for the month was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $801.8 billion. The month's gain compared with a decline of $1.5 billion in June when the effects of the retroactive federal pay raise are included, and a $2.3-billion increase with the pay raise excluded.

The department reported that private sector wages and salaries increased by $1.5 billion, the same as in June. It said declining employment was more than offset by higher pay rates and increases in working hours.

For the first seven months of this year, personal income reached a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $793 billion. The department said this was an increase of $57 billion, or 8 per cent, from the corresponding period of last year.

$102,000 Loan to Dogwood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced today that the Farmers Home Administration has granted the Dogwood Community Water Association in Mississippi County a $102,000 loan.

The loan will be used to enlarge existing storage facilities, improve treatment plants and extend service to about 50 families, McClellan said.

Endorsement of Purcell

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Bill Whitehead, editor of the Malvern Daily Record, which endorsed Joe Purcell's candidacy for governor July 8, said the newspaper would endorse Purcell's program in today's edition.

"He is presenting a positive program ... one that is reasonable and workable," Whitehead wrote.

The same editorial appeared Wednesday in the weekly For-dyce New Advocate. Whitehead is editor and publisher of both newspapers.

Fighting Is Heavy, 300 Cong Killed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting in which more than 300 North Vietnamese were reported killed indicated today that the enemy is trying to launch an offensive against the pacification program in the populous lowlands of South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces.

One battle still raged at dusk with North Vietnamese troops holed up in villages along the French Indochina war's "Street without Joy."

Field reports said 17 South Vietnamese troops had been killed and 44 wounded. Among the dead was Maj. Nguyen Van Van, commander of Fire Base O'Reilly, killed in a mortar attack.

American planes and helicopter gunships flew some of the heaviest strikes of the war.

At stake is the pacification operation which over the past year has brought security to the villages in the lowlands of Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces.

Some of the villages were reported damaged, and hundreds of refugees fled as fighting broke out. There was no estimate of civilian casualties.

The heaviest fighting broke out in a string of villages along the coastal strip French soldiers named "the Street without Joy" in the early 1950s because of their losses there.

Intelligence officers said nearly two battalions of about 700 North Vietnamese filtered through allied defensive lines in the foothills to the west and reassembled after they reached the coastal region at points ranging from four to 12 miles southeast of Quang Tri City.

House Overrides Nixon's Veto of Education Bill

AP News Digest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Foes of President Nixon's Safeguard antiballistic missile system, defeated twice Wednesday in efforts to restrict expansion of the system, have set their sights on victory in a final drive next week. The amendment still to be decided blocks construction of two new Safeguard sites, applying funds instead to improvements for the two existing sites.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time ever, the House has scheduled votes on two major vetoes for the same day. Set for today were attempts to override President Nixon's rejection of the $4.4 billion Office of Education money bill and the $18.8 billion measure funding the Department of Housing and Urban Development and a variety of other agencies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI reports that use of firearms in murders and assaults has risen sharply since 1964.

Forrest City Plan Approved

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Oren Harris approved Wednesday the desegregation plan for the Forrest City School District.

Harris, however, rejected the Hazen School District's freedom-of-choice plan for its elementary schools, ruling that the plan did not effectively desegregate the district's dual system.

Harris ordered the district to use a modified alternative proposal submitted to the court by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to override President Nixon's veto of a $4.4-billion appropriation bill for the Office of Education. A final decision awaits action by the Senate.

The roll call vote by the House to bowl over the school bill veto was 289 to 114. This was 20 more than the two-thirds needed.

The House then turned to consideration of the veto of an $18-billion measure to finance the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs, the Veterans Administration and a score of other agencies.

Nixon vetoed both bills in an historic action Tuesday, because they provide about $1 billion more than he requested.

During debate preceding the voting, Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said 96 per cent of the $22.4 billion in the two money bills "were requested by the administration."

Mahon said the extra $1 billion Congress voted to add to the two bills was not the major inflationary pressure although, he said, "it makes a bad situation worse."

Nixon vetoed the bills on the ground they added to inflationary pressure.

Mahon said both Congress and the administration could easily merit "a big spending" label because the administration requested and spent about $12.2 billion more than in the prior year and Congress made the money available.

"So we are in the same boat together," Mahon said.

Never before has the House scheduled votes on two major vetoes in one day.

Herbert G. Klein, communications director for the administration, told Republican governors Wednesday the vetoes will pay dividends during the November campaigns.

Klein told Republicans at the National Governors Conference meeting at Land of the Ozarks, Mo., "It was essential that the President do it."

But Democrat Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, new chairman of the conference, said the vetoes are designed to blame Congress for inflation.

The two bills provide almost $1 billion more than the President requested for the current fiscal year, a sum the President said was "the kind of big spending that would drive up prices or demand higher taxes."

The President said his veto of the two bills was "painful."

Shortage of Boxcars for Peak Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frustrated federal officials and the railroad industry are searching for ways to eliminate the annual boxcar shortage when the peak shipping season begins next month.

A poll of shippers indicates no shortage of boxcars now but no one is betting the trend will continue.

Three rail cars go east for each one that moves west, and the problem shows up when the Oregon lumberman, the Kansas wheat grower and the New England utility demand service at the same time.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has drawn a new schedule of penalties for use against shippers who allow cars to stand idle.

Kirkpatrick Named New Head of FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philadelphia lawyer Miles W. Kirkpatrick, who once headed a committee that recommended reform or abolishment of the Federal Trade Commission, has been selected by President Nixon to head the agency.

Nixon announced Tuesday his nomination of the 52-year-old Kirkpatrick to the unexpired seven-year-term of resigned Chairman Caspar W. Weinberger, who joins the Office of Management and Budget.

Nixon said Kirkpatrick would serve as chairman of the FTC, if he wins Senate confirmation, for the term ending in September, 1976.

Kirkpatrick headed a late 1969 study of the FTC, at Nixon's request, by a panel of the American Bar Association.

His report concluded that the consumer protection agency was ineffective, preoccupied with trivia and riddled with dissension.

And the 119-page document commented that if major changes did not occur, "there will be no substantial purpose to be served by the FTC's continued existence," and other agencies should take up the slack.

Since then, there have been some revisions. Nixon replaced longtime Chairman Paul Rand Dixon with Weinberger in November. And last month the agency began operating under a reorganization plan.

But criticism hasn't stopped. FTC Commissioner Philip Elman said Tuesday the agency should be abolished, with its functions split between a single administrator and a trade court.

Kirkpatrick has charged sluggishness and failure to deal strictly enough with deceptive practices by industry. His report noted some proceedings had dragged on for 10 years or more.

Contacted in St. Louis where he is attending the American Bar Association's House of Delegates' meeting, Kirkpatrick would not comment specifically on any changes he proposed in the FTC.

He said, however, the agency would be in the forefront of consumer protection and antitrust enforcement as it should be.

Kirkpatrick said his Senate hearing on confirmation is scheduled Aug. 20 and he shouldn't comment on any proposed changes until at least that time.

Bill Politics & Nolkie Sue Runs Cafe

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — While Bill Wells spends his time running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, his wife, Nolkie Sue, has been spending most of her time running the Wells' cafe in Hermitage.

But recently she has turned management of the cafe over to an employee so she could help out more in her husband's campaign.

During an interview at the Wells two-room campaign headquarters here, Mrs. Wells paused to answer the phone and make arrangements for a private plane to take Wells to political events.

Prior to Wells' announcement to run for governor, speculation was that he would run for lieutenant governor.

Mrs. Wells said she did not know which office he was going to choose until he announced, but she knew he would be a candidate.

Wells also is the Hartford Insurance Co. agent in the Hermitage area. Until a year ago, Mrs. Wells said she helped her husband in the insurance office on a part-time basis.

Most of the campaigning, at least the handshaking and speechmaking, has been left to Wells, with Mrs. Wells manning the office operations and the cafe.

She says she had not accompanied him to many political rallies, but she said she has enjoyed the ones she has attended. However, she said now that someone else is managing the cafe, she will be able to attend more rallies and events with her husband prior to the Aug. 25 primary.

Currently the Wells live in an apartment in Hermitage because fire severely damaged their home in 1968. She said they intend to build again, and although they were insured, some of the articles lost in the fire cannot be replaced.

Mrs. Wells still has a salt and pepper shaker collection and she also collects glass bottles and canning jars.

The Wells have four sons, Billy, 18, Eddie, 15, Alan, 12, and William, 10. All the boys are helping in the campaign.

To relax, the Wells go to their "camp" on Raymond Lake off the Ouachita River to swim and fish. But, she says lately they have not been able to go to the camp.

On Aug. 25, Mrs. Wells says she and her husband will vote in Hermitage and then return to Little Rock to await the results.

"There is nothing to do (on Aug. 25) but wait, sit and hold your hands, listen to the radio, watch television and wait for the results," she said as she flashed a big smile.

exemptions was offered in the 1969 regular legislative session but the measure was defeated. Sponsors of the legislation said they had been told repeal would raise $30 million but other legislators and state Administration Department officials have said they believed the figure was inflated.

Hayes C. McClerkin of Texarkana, another Democratic candidate, disagreed with Purcell's figures, saying that the legislature in 1969 was told the repeal of the exemptions would produce $7 million to $10 million and that the $30 million figure was one presented to the legislature by Rockefeller.

Former Gov. Orval Faubus said it was his impression that the state loses $12 million to $14 million annually through use tax exemptions.

Britt said he did not think anyone really knows how much revenue would be produced. "I don't think it's nearly as much as people think it is," he said.

On other subjects, the candidates made these remarks: Walter Carruth of Lexa, the American Party in Arkansas nominee: He said he was opposed to the proposed new state constitution, that he was against any increase in taxes, that he was for more funds for higher education and for some way to head off the Department of Health, Education and Welfare from "taking over public schools."

Purcell: He said he was in favor of the proposed constitution. He said he favored a strong rural highway program and that he felt that the $7.5 million that will be released by retirement of a highway bond issue later this year could be used for this purpose. He said he was for increasing the tax on foreign insurance companies. On capital punishment, he said that until a substitute was found, "we're going to have to continue to have capital punishment."

Bill Wells of Hermitage, a Democrat: He took no position on the proposed constitution. He called the present state tax structure a hodgepodge that has come about as a means of political expediency, particularly through the administrations of Faubus and Rockefeller. He said he favored removing sales tax exemptions on industrial machinery, which he said would produce $7.5 million in new revenues annually. He said he wanted to see a day's work out of the prison inmates and that he wanted to see good farm management at the prisons. He said he was against repeal of capital punishment. He said he was for the proposed constitution.

McClerkin: He said the state's property taxes were overworked and discriminatory because they have not been exercised against all. He said he was strongly in favor of a sound farm-to-market and rural road program and that this would get priority from his administration. He also said that if toll roads "are economically feasible, we should use this system." He said the prison system should be modeled after the one in Texas where there is a maximum security unit and a separate farm operation. After this is done, he said he would want to extend rehabilitation programs in the prisons. He said he would like to see the state's Act 9 to include insurance of bonds for construction of law enforcement in the state. He said he was in favor of the proposed constitution.

fund than was available to him during his administration. He said he wanted to analyze available funds before he would discuss a tax increase. He said when he left office, the annual telephone bill at Tucker Prison farm was $1,750 and that during the first year of the Rockefeller administration the bill was $53,000. He said the $7.5 million due to be released by the Highway Department bond retirement should be used to accelerate construction of new rural roads. He said he would propose additional educational training, rehabilitation programs and trade schools for the prison system. He said he would improve the automobile license plate registration system by "putting the license plates back into the local revenue offices."

—Britt: He noted that Rockefeller had been criticized for being out of state, but he said residents should be proud that for the first time the state had someone whose views, counsel and experience were valued outside the state.

Catholics in Ireland Fight British Troops

By RODNEY PINDER

Associated Press Writer

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Roman Catholics in Londonderry battled British troops for four hours early today, but the troops and barricades of barbed wire prevented a repetition of last year's bloody Aug. 12 religious warfare.

The rioting in Londonderry's Bogside district erupted just before midnight, after a day of Protestant parades in other parts of the city celebrating a 17th century Protestant victory over the Catholics.

Militant Catholics who had been penned in the Bogside all day opened up on the soldiers just before midnight with barrages of rocks, bottles and gasoline bombs.

Crouching behind riot shields, the troops fired about 50 rounds of their latest anti-riot weapon—six-inch rubber bullets intended to cripple the legs. They scattered the rioters for only a brief time. The rioters regrouped for another round, and the soldiers responded with volleys of tear gas, filling the winding streets with clouds of choking smoke.

Three soldiers and one civilian were reported injured. Casualties among the rioters were not known. The Catholics have their own first aid stations deep inside their district.

The riot was a backlash reaction to the parade through Londonderry Tuesday of more than 6,000 Protestant men who marched in bowler hats and gaudy sashes to drum and fife commemorating the lifting of a Catholic siege of Londonderry in 1689.

Last year's parade touched off fighting between the Bogside and the Protestants which spread across Northern Ireland and has broken out again and again since, with more than a score killed and hundreds wounded.

This year, double barricades of barbed wire and thousands of troops and police kept the Catholics away from the parading Protestants. Although the government had banned the parade, the security forces did not try to stop the marchers because there was no confrontation between the two religious factions.

Sir Arthur Young, Northern Ireland's chief of police, said it was the attorney general's responsibility to "decide what is a procession." He said the names of some of the marchers had been recorded, and the attorney general would decide whether they should be prosecuted.

Only two brief incidents were reported.

One casualty of the day was a visitor from the Irish Republic, Conor Cruise O'Brien, the expert on Africa and the United Nations, critic of U.S. foreign policy and member of the Irish Parliament. Gangs of Protestants set on him twice and beat him up. He said he got "a few busted ribs," and the police gave him a protective guard.

In London, Scotland Yard refused to comment on newspaper reports that sabotage experts of the outlawed Irish Republican Army plan to blow up seven military bases in England.

Takes Issues With TV Commercials

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — "What do you want, good grammar or good taste?" asks a television cigarette commercial.

The commercial slaps the hands of the slogan writer who has let the company slip by for years claiming that the brand "tastes good like a cigarette should," rather than as a cigarette should.

Mrs. Elta Houser of Wynne, president of the Arkansas Council of Teachers of English, expressed displeasure with the commercial. Her dislike was not for the apparent poor grammar, but for the quality of the commercial.

The council sponsored a four-day workshop on English in Little Rock which ended Friday.

Television has had a definite effect on English, Mrs. Houser said.

"I wish I could say I had as much affect on my students as television," she said.

Mrs. Houser, who has taught English for 23 years, said Wednesday the trend for modern grammar was to emphasize communication rather than apply the strict rules of the past.

No longer are students in most Arkansas schools taught diagramming, rather they are taught the grammar of their environment.

Mrs. Houser defined good grammar as that used by educated people.

Referring back to the question of "like" and "as," Mrs. Houser said that Hubert Humphrey, whom she considers educated, borrowed the student slogan — "Tell It Like It Is," — for his campaign.

To be correct in the traditional sense, the slogan should be — "Tell it 'As' It is."

Mrs. Houser, the chairman of the English department at Wynne High School, said that traditional grammar operates by rules. However, the modern grammar attempts to study the grammar that is being used.

Under the new system, students are encouraged to look at themselves and those around them and notice the communication process. Much of their learning of grammar comes from literature.

Even dialects are considered in the student's study and are not considered wrong.

For example, it is not wrong to say "you all," in the South, just as it is not wrong to say, "you guys," in the North. These are just regional patterns, Mrs. Houser said.

Mrs. Lela Willis, a Little Rock English teacher, said that the new grammar may help those who are not preparing for college, but will assume a vocation after high school graduation.

Mrs. Willis says that probably the only time a student will hear formal grammar is in school.

In Arkansas, she said 40 per cent of the high school graduates go to college and 5 per cent graduate. Therefore, she said that 55 per cent of the high school students do not need an academic English program.

With an academic English course in the high schools "we are not doing anything but turning out frustrated hippies," Mrs. Willis said.

As for the theoretical question, "What is happening to the English language," both women laughed.
"I don't know the future of English," Mrs. Houser said, "but I do know that Latin doesn't go anywhere, because it is dead."
By contrast, she said, English is constantly changing, because she said that it meets the needs of the people.
She said that a child is not taught that his language and his grammar is wrong, but he is exposed to literature that is supposed to help him communicate.
